THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER

15TH APRIL 2018

Lord of life, by submitting to death, you conquered the grave; by being lifted upon the cross, you draw all peoples to you; by being raised from the dead, you restore to humanity all that was lost through sin: be with us in your risen power, that in word and deed we may proclaim the marvellous mystery of your death and resurrection. For all praise is yours, now and throughout eternity. Amen

Please feel free to take this pew sheet home.

VICAR'S MUSINGS

At St Peter's we have been exercising ministry with homeless people and those in necessitous circumstances since our beginnings in the 19th century. Over the next three weeks in the Vicar's Musings I will be sharing recent research and writing in this area. This week's article is taken from "Making Census" in the April edition of The Big Issue by Amy Hetherington.

When the Australian Bureau of Statistics announces that 116,427 people are homeless it can be easy to get lost in numbers. But every single one of those numbers is a person who doesn't have a safe place to sleep tonight. What's your favourite time of day? that first moment you wake up, stretching away a cosy night's sleep? Maybe it's that moment you leave the office? That second you collapse into a comfy bed and curl up to a loved one? It's the early evenings that hurt most says Sheldon, a Big Issue vendor who has lived on the streets of Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane between rooming houses and private rentals over the years. "As I walked through the streets of the city and inner suburbs all I noticed was the comfort and security of other people's lives" he remembers". [And] the depressing fact that at the end of the day I was still without a home". In real terms, our homeless population now outnumbered most of our regional centres. There are more people without a home than live in the whole of Port Macquarie (78,500), Launceston (81,000), Bendigo (94,300), and Bunbury (102,600). If you imagine homelessness as a city, it's the size of Rockhampton or Mackay. It means on the night of August 2016 Census count, just a week after Homelessness Week, in mid-winter, 1 in 200 of us were considered homeless. The numbers include rough sleepers but overwhelmingly, our homeless population is less visible. As Adelaide vendor Ricky says, "Homelessness includes anybody that doesn't have a place of their own. It can be anything from a tent, car, caravan, park, park bench, street, friend's couch, a backyard or boarding house". And while the numbers show who is suffering, they don't explain why. The causes of homelessness are varied and complex. Family violence remains the leading cause in Australia, especially for women and children, and the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare reports the problem has grown in the past five years. "Homelessness is not a lifestyle choice, it reflects a system failure and, most critically, a shortage of affordable housing" Jenny Smith, chairwoman of Homelessness Australia (HA) told The Guardian. But homelessness is not an unsolvable problem. A coalition of housing bodies and homelessness providers have launched the Everybody's Home campaign, calling for a national strategy to meet the shortfall of 500,000 affordable homes needed to meet demand.

MASS READINGS

First Reading: Acts 3.13-15, 17-19

At the temple gate, Peter addressed the people: “The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our ancestors has glorified his servant Jesus, whom you handed over and rejected in the presence of Pilate, though he had decided to release him. But you rejected the Holy and Righteous One and asked to have a murderer given to you, and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. And now, friends, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. In this way God fulfilled what he had foretold through all the prophets, that his Messiah would suffer. Repent therefore, and turn to God so that your sins may be wiped out.”

Psalm: 4.1, 3, 6, 8

Answer me when I call, O God of my right!
You gave me room when I was in distress.
Be gracious to me, and hear my prayer.           R.
But know that the Lord has set apart
the faithful for himself;
the Lord hears when I call to him.           R.
There are many who say,
“O that we might see some good!
Let the light of your face shine on us, O Lord!”       R.
I will both lie down and sleep in peace;
for you alone, O Lord,
make me lie down in safety.           R.

Second Reading: 1 John 2.1-5

My little children, I am writing these things to you so that you may not sin. But if anyone does sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous; and he is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world. Now by this we may be sure that we know him, if we obey his commandments. Whoever says, “I have come to know him,” but does not obey his commandments, is a liar, and in such a person the truth does not exist; but whoever obeys his word, truly in this person the love of God has reached perfection. By this we may be sure that we are in him.

Gospel: Luke 24.35-48

The two disciples told the eleven and their companions what had happened on the road to Emmaus, and how Jesus had been made known to them in the breaking of the bread. While they were talking about this, Jesus himself stood among them and said to them, “Peace be with you.” They were startled and terrified, and thought that they were seeing a ghost. He said to them, “Why are you frightened, and why do doubts arise in your hearts? Look at my hands and my feet; see that it is I myself. Touch me and see; for a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have.” And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet. While in their joy they were disbelieving and still wondering, he said to them, “Have you anything here to eat?” They gave him a piece of broiled fish, and he took it and ate in their presence. Then he said to them, “These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you— that everything written about me in the law of Moses, the prophets, and the psalms must be fulfilled.” Then he opened their minds to understand the scriptures, and he said to them, “Thus it is written, that the Messiah is to suffer and to rise from the dead on the third day, and that repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. You are witnesses of these things.”

NEW RELEASE!

What We Talk About When We Talk About Faith by Peter Stanford

Peter Stanford has been interviewing people of faith for 35 years.

This collection of the best of his interviews with activists, writers and artists, politicians, rebels and those who have taken vows will appeal to committed believers, those on the fringes of faith, and those who look in from the outside with curiosity.

Stanford aims to lift the lid on a topic that has become increasingly marginalised in the public square of our increasingly secular and sceptical society, where to 'do God' can feel like breaking a taboo. He shows that rather than being all about doctrine and dogma, there are as many ways of exploring faith as there are individuals currently doing it.

Includes interviews with Sara Maitland, Sister Wendy Beckett, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Karen Armstrong, Rabbi Julia Neuberger, Amos Oz and Nick Cave.
